THE HONORABLE MAX CLELAND

*Secretary of State
The State of Georgia*

Described by Washington Post Columnist David Broder as "the genuine article... an authentic American hero: a living, breathing testament to the power of the human spirit," Stetson University alumnus Max Cleland was the first Vietnam veteran and the youngest administrator to head the U.S. Veterans Administration when he was appointed by President Jimmy Carter in 1977.

Cleland was selected by Georgia Trend magazine as one of the 100 most influential people in Georgia and was Georgia's youngest Secretary of State when elected to that position in 1982. He has been the highest vote-getter in the state the past 12 years, leading the ticket more times than any other candidate in Georgia history.

He volunteered for duty in the Vietnam conflict, and was promoted to the rank of captain in the United States Army. While fighting to lift the siege of Khe Sanh in 1968, he was severely wounded in a grenade explosion, losing both his legs and his right arm. He was awarded both the Bronze Star and Silver Star for his service.

Born in Atlanta, he grew up in his hometown of Lithonia and attended local public schools. He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Stetson and a master's degree from Emory University in Atlanta. Both institutions have conferred honorary doctoral degrees on him for outstanding achievement.

He is the author of an autobiography, entitled Strong at the Broken Places, which shares important moments in his life and outlines his personal philosophy.
